LIGHTING AND DESIGN

BY: ALISON WILSON, Brisbane Chamber Editor / Marketing Director alison@brisbanechamber.org

Great lighting, video, design and production make events fun. For more than 20 years Felix Lighting, a full-service production company, has been illuminating corporate, concerts, private parties, festivals and special events. They specialize in design, sales and rentals of automated lighting and production services. Andrew “Andy” Isola General Manager, Rental and Property Manager at the Brisbane location, opened the interview speaking on the impact that event light and sound is to an event. He commented “lighting and video are an essential piece of the décor.”

GENUINE AND GOOD

Guided by the vision, passion and creativity of Rafael and Julie Meza, Melissa’s Taqueria (named after their daughter) is a landmark for authentic Mexican cuisine in the heart of Brisbane’s historical district. Melissa’s Taqueria, a family-run business, has operated in Brisbane since March 23, 2003. When asked why they opened their family run restaurant in Brisbane, Rafael said “I learned that the Brick Oven site was for sale. I visited Brisbane and walked around the neighborhood for several weeks speaking to people. I liked the friendliness of everyone, the climate and the small town feeling. I felt welcomed.”

Rafael and Melissa’s Taqueria are well respected in the community, taking time to sponsor a Brisbane Soccer Team, donate all food for the annual American Heart Association fund-raiser, and participating in fund-raisers for the Brisbane Elementary School District, education and community projects.

PASSIONATE AND MOTIVATED

BY: ALISON WILSON, Brisbane Chamber Editor / Marketing Director alison@brisbanechamber.org

Born and raised in Pacifica, California, Michele Jauregui, at age 19, landed a job in Crockier Industrial Park. She fell in love with Brisbane. After living in several cities on the peninsula, Jauregui moved to Brisbane in 2003 and made it her home.

“I asked why she decided to call Brisbane home,” Jauregui replied, “What drew me here first, was the weather and the sense of a really tight and safe community. People here are friendly and care about each other. It was an easy decision to make. Second, I love the outdoors and spending time with family and friends. Living at the foot of San Bruno Mountain on the San Francisco Bay is priceless.” Jauregui is an

We are involved in the ultimate business-to-business and business-to-commerce Multi Chamber Expo on Thursday, August 18th 4 to 7 pm at South San Francisco Conference Center located at 255 South Airport Blvd., in South San Francisco. It is the right place and the right time to be visible while interacting with others. It is definitely worth registering for and attending; to learn about businesses in our area and to network with both the businesses and attendees. To reserve your table visit: https://multichamberbusinessesexpo.eventbrite.com. Employees, employers, businesses owners, sole proprietors, entrepreneurs, and local citizens have the opportunity to browse, discover new ideas and products. In the past, hundreds of people have attended sharing ideas and products; interacting with other businesses, discovering new ideas and technologies; plus, vendors will have products for sale. This event is open to the entire business and residential community. It is FREE to attend. The public does not need to register.

BULK POSTAL CHANGE

The United States Post Office has made the decision to centralize the Brisbane Business Mail Entry Unit. On August 29th, Brisbane Post Office will no longer accept bulk mailings. This change only effects business mail acceptance and does not affect any other postal services provided by the Brisbane Post Office. Brisbane mailing permit(s) and fees will be transferred to the San Francisco Business Mail Entry unit located at 1300 Evans Avenue, San Francisco CA 94188-8025 (approximately 5 miles from Brisbane Post Office). Their hours of operation are 10:00am to 6:00pm. The Post Office will accept pre-printed mail pieces with a Brisbane endorsement in the indicia until August 29, 2017. Please contact the San Francisco Mailing Requirements office at (415) 550-5750 with any questions.

Wednesday, September 21st the annual Fall Chamber mixer will again be held at Ron Davis and Company 400 Visitacion Avenue, sponsored by Ron Davis, Broker and Madhouse Coffee from 5 to 7 p.m.; and on October 5th we will be sponsoring the 2016 State of the City address at the Doubletree Hotel by Hilton, 5000 Sierra Point Parkway. Mayor Cliff Leitz will be the featured speaker.

Chamber events provides business an opportunity to understand the needs of customers. It is critical to build relationships not just with your customers, but also with your vendors, employees and your competitors. Networking is an opportunity to create, reconnect and solidify valuable contacts. Attending a mixer, with plenty of business cards is a great venue to enjoy a conversation with other attendees who are looking to share their information and to learn about your products and services. Be involved and visible. Register today for upcoming events at www.brisbanechamber.eventbrite.com.

Your Chamber welcomes your ideas and suggestions. This is a great community where ideas are shared to help the community and your organization thrive. If you are an executive or a business owner and are looking for a way to get involved, join us in the Brisbane Chamber of Commerce, or give us a call to learn more about being a member of the Chamber. If you need a referral for a service or a product, give us a call at (415) 467-7283 or e-mail mitch@brisbanechamber.org. We are working to enhance and expand economic vitality for Brisbane. SPREAD SHEET VS. DATA BASE

BY: CURTIS ROE, Treasurer and Board Member Brisbane Chamber of Commerce, CPA
Director - Finance, Purcell Murray, croe@purcellmurray.com

I received a nice e-mail last week from the Poplar Creek Golf Course. Please recall my article in May of this year regarding said course. In part, the message said, “To quote Mark Twain, “The reports of my death are greatly exaggerated.” Recent news accounts paint an inaccurate picture of the future of Poplar Creek Golf Course. We are here and will be for a long time to come, for your golfing enjoyment.” Did the citizens of Brisbane let their voice be heard in San Mateo? Could be.

ON TO MATTERS OF ACCOUNTING!

We thought we were pretty smart with our first lemonade stand. We had a computer on hand and used a spreadsheet to track all our sales. Sure, we remember a previous article that talk about inventory control and how that ensures accurate reporting. But we went one step further and tracked our sales on a spreadsheet. We used a different sheet for each day’s sales. It was nice and neat record of everything we did. We also used a spreadsheet for our inventory and fixed assets.

At the end of the month, we added everything up and guess what? It didn’t balance. How could that be? We were so diligent in making sure we recorded everything. We even checked it over and found no errors. Still, we did not balance. Our debits did not equal our credits. What would Luca Pacioli (father of bookkeeping, Feb 2015 Luminary) say!!

I don’t know what Luca would say but I would tell you not to use a spreadsheet for a data base. Typically a data base has built in controls that prevent just this sort of thing from happening. What thing you say? Something like an entry to your books that doesn’t balance. Something like changing data without leaving any record of the change. Something like accidently deleting information or entering data in space that already had data.

A spreadsheet is only as good as the data and formulas entered. Just because it is in a spreadsheet does not mean that it is valid.
SKATING INTO SUMMER ... (EXPOSE YOURSELF) – TO REACH YOUR CUSTOMERS!

BY: MITCH BULL, Brisbane Chamber President and CEO mitch@brisbanechamber.org

In today’s super-fast-paced environment, we are all inundated with e-mails, infomercials and endless ads on our smart phones, computers and TV’s, not to mention traditional newspaper and radio ads. Throw in “Valpak” coupons, door hangers and post cards and we are deluged with offers of every sort, and we haven’t even touched on those telemarketers yet... often the ad messages just overwhelm us and we just take to deleting the e-mails, throwing away the mail and fast forwarding through or muting the commercials on TV. All in all, many attempts to distribute promotional and marketing messages aren’t very effective, especially if they end up in the “trash bin” either electronically or physically.

When we look for a product or service, we try to select a provider, we usually look first to those we are familiar with or at least one they have heard of. Price may enter into the equation but generally it is hard to become a product or service provider “of choice” if no one has heard of you or knows what you offer.

One of the missions at the Brisbane Chamber is to give local businesses and service provider’s several different ways to reach their target audience, making their businesses known to the extent where a consumer will consider them as a company or provider “of choice.” We conduct seminars, publish a local map and newspaper, and compile and publish a business and residential directory/telephone book for our city. Throw in ribbon cuttings, mixers and special events and you have several ways in which a local business can help to get their name and products noticed. It’s all about “exposure!”

In August, we will again be partnering with other local Chambers of Commerce to plan and operate the “Fourth Annual Multi-Chamber Business Expo.” This event, at the South San Francisco Conference Center, will bring citizens and companies from all over the Northern portion of San Mateo County to our “doorstep” and give our companies and merchants another avenue to reach out to potential customers that are outside the city limits. By partnering with five other chambers of commerce we are providing an opportunity to widen the base of consumers that our businesses are exposed to.

In the first three years, the event has “sold out” and expanded from 85 exhibitors to a record of 131. In the 3 ½ hours of the event, merchants and service providers have the opportunity to meet with potential customers face to face and interact in meaningful way, possibly becoming that desired “vendor of choice.”

This year, the event is on Thursday, August 18th and we will again offer a discount to chamber members and non-profit agencies, as well as those businesses which are operated from a home office. It’s a good opportunity to market your company, your products and your brand to every person and business representative who will be attending.

Not ready with a product, but still want to market your brand name? Sign up with us as a sponsor of the expo. Sponsorships start at $100 and your brand will be represented at the event. Although most “customers” are expected to be local citizens and businesses from Northern San Mateo County, we are expecting attendees from lower San Mateo County and other areas.

Get “EXPOsed!” It’s a great way to be involved and help to ensure that more people know about your business; after all- if they don’t know about you, it is nearly impossible to have them purchase goods and services from you or your company. Interested? Give one of us a call at the chamber (415.467.7283) to get involved, or sign up online at: http://www.brisbanechamber.org/events.html.
SUMMER RESETS:

Customers enjoying a meal at Melissa’s Taqueria

“Luckily, my wife found this establishment nearby, rated high by locals. We ordered two “dry” burritos (to go), meaning without red sauce and grated cheese on top, and one “wet” with the above. They were both excellent, probably one of the best meals we ate while in the San Francisco area. Extremely tasty food that was inexpensive.”

Customers enjoy breakfast, lunch, brunch, dinner, dessert and/or drinks. Recently, Melissa went on a vacation and came home with a vision of remodeling her family’s restaurant. She wanted a restaurant with an ambiance of an outdoor, relaxing Mexican restaurant complete with picnic tables and a kiosk for ordering meals. Freshly remodeled, Melissa’s Taqueria is a Brisbane restaurant that is a community gathering space for workers, families, artists and toddlers alike.

Melissa’s Taqueria is located at 160 Visitacion Ave, Brisbane, CA 94005. They are open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday, 9 a.m. to 8 a.m. Sundays. Call them at (415) 656-1369 for take-out and catering. While they do not provide home delivery, the restaurant does do a brisk business of take-out meals and catering. Melissa’s caters birthday and social club parties and business meetings, of course delivered to your location.

With summer here, we begin our family vacations and weekend barbecues with friends. It’s time to reset our thinking and start planning our finances for the remainder of the year and future. The markets are up, but there’s uncertainty in our global economy and to add to this is an election year.

Do I know the risk percentage of my investment portfolio and when was my last review?

Do I have enough cash to help me survive a downturn in our economy or if I lose my job?

What’s the maximum rate that I can be charged on my home equity loan if rates increase?

I have a monthly budget.

From Iowa City to Houston to San Francisco to Brisbane diners are saying “you can count on friendly service, flavorful and fresh food that is not greasy, combined with the ‘fabulous’ drink selection.” Another satisfied diner said, “It’s a clean and friendly place with huge burritos. My favorite is the super wet burrito.”

EMPLOYER USE OF SOCIAL MEDIA AS A SCREENING TOOL INCREASED

BY: GAIL CECCHETTINI WHALEY CalChamber Employment Law Counsel www.calchamber.com

HIRING, SOCIAL MEDIA

The number of employers who use social networking sites to research job candidates continues to rise. Sixty percent of employers surveyed by CareerBuilder use these sites to screen candidates, a significant increase from 52 percent last year and only 11 percent in 2006 when this survey was first conducted. In addition, 59 percent of hiring managers use search engines to research candidates.

BE CAREFUL WHEN USING SOCIAL MEDIA TO SCREEN JOB CANDIDATES.

According to the survey, hiring managers in information technology (76 percent) and sales (65 percent) are the most likely to use social networks to screen candidates; professional and business services were least likely.

Almost half of hiring managers who screen via social networks said that they have found online information that caused them not to hire a candidate. The top pieces of content that turned off these employers were:

- Provocative or inappropriate photographs, videos or information — 46 percent
- Information about candidate drinking or using drugs — 43 percent
- Discriminatory comments related to race, religion, gender, etc. — 33 percent
- Candidate bad-mouthed previous company or fellow employee — 31 percent
- Poor communication skills — 29 percent

However, not all the information found on social media was bad. About one-third of employers who screen candidates via social networks found information that caused them to hire a candidate, such as information that supported job qualifications and information conveying a professional image.

NOT ALLOWED IN CALIFORNIA

Not all job candidates make their social networking information public, leading some employers to not want to hire these candidates. More than two in five employers surveyed by CareerBuilder said that they were less likely to interview a job candidate if they couldn’t find any online information about the candidate.

Many employers who screen via social networks requested to “be a friend” or follow candidates who have private accounts — 36 percent. Of that group, 68 percent say they’ve been granted permission — down from 80 percent last year.

But in California, this type of request is not allowed.

California employers are prohibited under California Labor Code section 980 from requiring or requesting applicants or employees to disclose information regarding their personal social media accounts. In other words, an employer cannot ask a potential hire or a current employee for the password to his/her Facebook account to see information that might not be shared with the public or to accept a “friend” request.

In addition, an employer should be wary about uncovering information on social media that is not relevant to your job search and that you may not have otherwise known, such as an employee’s religion, disability or gender expression. Your social media searches will be discoverable if a candidate sues you claiming you didn’t hire him or her because you found out the candidate is a member of a protected class.

In 2007, Jauregui was awarded her Realtor license [CA BRE #01801514], the same year that the U.S. experienced the real estate crash. I asked her what it was like, entering into a tough real estate market. She replied, “I listened and honed my skills; having plenty of time to learn what the industry had to offer. Ron Davis, broker and owner of Ron Davis and Company Real Estate, had the opportunity of teaching me the importance of looking at the whole picture of each client’s needs. This was a perfect time for me to enter the market. I learned the value of marketing, using ‘old school values’ and importance of ‘white glove service’. Wow, I needed a lot of patience and stick-to-itiveness to find the perfect fit for each client.” Ron Davis, commented “Michele is a successful realtor because of her positive attitude, patience and sense of humor.”

Jauregui continued, “Working in Brisbane and the surrounding cities selling real estate, is a great experience. The San Francisco Bay Area is one of the most diverse places in the country with people from every background. I have been able to meet and work with some extraordinary people. I am passionate about working with buyers and turning them into home owners. Davis added, “When you work with Michele and the team at Ron Davis & Company you have the resources and experience that comes with hundreds of successful transactions. She truly cares about each client and working hard to make sure that each transaction goes as smoothly as possible.” She continued, “Yes, happy clients are my goal. I find pleasure in helping others achieve something that they never thought possible. Which was the case with my last buyer. He is a very happy man and enjoying his new home.”

We spoke about goals and challenges Jauregui has faced since becoming a Realtor. Jauregui commented, “I think the biggest challenge in real estate is trying to establish yourself in the business. You just don’t get a license and start work right away like other careers. I am still working hard to establish myself and it’s really important to first to start with your community, friends and family.” Continuing, she spoke about Ron Davis who helped jump start her career in real estate and the impact that he’s made on her life. She ended stating, “My focus right now is on growing my business and taking myself out of my comfort zone, to see the real potential. I want to be visible to build lifelong relationships with one client at a time.”

RECORDING CONVERSATION REQUIRES PERMISSION OF ALL PARTIES

BY: DANA LEISINGER CalChamber Labor Law Corner www.calchamber.com

My employee wants to use her cell phone to privately record a conversation with another employee (without her knowledge). Can she do this?

The answer is definitely no. California is a “two party consent” state—in other words, it is a crime to record or eavesdrop on any confidential communication, including a private conversation or telephone call, without the consent of all parties to the conversation. See California Penal Code, Section 632. It applies to telephone conversations, but to casual conversations in person as well.

The definition of “person” (recording the conversation) includes an individual, business association, partnership, corporation, limited liability company, or other legal entity. Therefore, an employer can’t record conversations without permission either.

This law applies to all situations in which individuals are having a confidential communication. These are conversations in which the party being recorded has a reasonable expectation that no one else is listening or overhearing the conversation.

Although in today’s world it is very easy to record conversations using “smart phones,” employees should be cautioned that in California, recording the conversation without permission is forbidden. Violation of this code section can result in a fine of up to $2,500 or imprisonment in the county jail, or even time in a state prison.

Brisbane Planning Commission will hold a public hearing on Thursday, July 28, 2016 at 7:30 pm at Brisbane City Hall, 50 Park Place, Brisbane, to consider its final recommendation to the City Council regarding the Baylands Project and related final Environmental Impact Report. This hearing will be the culmination of an extensive review process undertaken by the Planning Commission that began in September 2015 and included two workshops, 10 public hearings, and 11 deliberation meetings. To view the Notice of Public Hearing and the complete record of the Planning Commission’s proceedings, please visit http://brisbaneca.org/baylands-information

The staff report for the July 28, 2016 hearing will be available for public review on or before Friday, July 22, 2016, and e-mail notice will be provided when the report is available.

A NOTE FROM SUPERINTENDENT COLLVER:

Hello Brisbane community!

My name is Ronan Collver and I have assumed the duties as the Superintendent of the Brisbane School District as of July 1, 2016. I am very excited to join this community and I look forward to jumping in with both feet. My career in public education over the past 23 years includes being a classroom teacher, vice-principal and Superintendent/Principal. I received my Bachelor’s Degree from San Diego State University and both my Elementary Teaching Credential and Administrative Services Credential from Humboldt State University. Having served as a Superintendent/Principal for the past ten years, I have developed a strong understanding of all areas of running a school district and I look forward to lending these skills to improving an already outstanding school district.

I enjoy collaborating with families, teachers and students in developing strategies so that all students can achieve their highest academic, emotional and social potential. I believe that our educational system works best when communities come together and lend a hand in the education of our youth. I look forward to establishing partnerships with local business and community members so that we can be successful in reaching all of our goals.

My wife, Laura, and I recently relocated to Brisbane from a small town in Humboldt County. We are enjoying all of the benefits of living in this region and exploring all that it has to offer. We have two wonderful children -- Dylan, 22, lives in South Lake Tahoe where he is attending Lake Tahoe Community College while working in the ski/snowboard industry and pursuing his new found love of cooking. Bridget, 19, just finished her first year at UC Santa Cruz and is studying History and Politics. We enjoy spending as much time as possible together by attending baseball games, concerts, and discovering new restaurants.

Feel free to drop me an e-mail at rcollver@brisbanesd.org, call me at 415-467-0550 or stop by my office at Lipman School.

Warm regards, Ronan Collver

Please join us in welcoming Superintendent Ronan Collver to our school district and our town!
