A global leader in event experiences, PSAV was founded in 1937. PSAV has grown from a small, regionally-based provider of audiovisual services to a leading global event experience provider with revenue of nearly $2 billion. They support more than 1.5 million meetings annually and, on average, are hired by more than 1,100 meeting planners and event organizers each day for thematic content creation, management and production, staging, trade shows, audiovisual, and digital services. They work closely with customers to create dynamic and impactful meetings and events of all sizes. PSAV’s venue partners reside at luxury hotels, resorts and convention centers, and include well-known brands such as Marriott, Hilton, Hyatt, Four Seasons, The Ritz-Carlton, Sheraton, Westin, and Fenway Park.

I interviewed Jen Rabon, office manager and learned that they have earned the reputation of creating fun and unique meeting and event experiences due to their attention to detail. Rabon explained, “It’s important for us to connect and inspire people. We are passionate about providing results-driven approach and customer service. This is why we send a survey after every event to gauge our success at meeting our clients’ needs.”

HOSPITALITY IN BRISBANE

BY: ALISON WILSON, Brisbane Chamber Director Marketing / Sales alison@brisbanechamber.org, 415-640-9875

Welcome Rhodora Escobar to Brisbane. She joined Homewood Suites as General Manager in 2018. She brings 24 years of experience and expertise in all aspects of the hotel business to the Brisbane property. Her background serving travelers here in the Bay Area include, working for the Four Points by Sheraton Hotel, Parc 55, Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Hilton San Francisco Financial District, Wyndham Vacation Ownership San Francisco, and the Hotel Nikko in San Francisco. She has won awards, increased profitability of properties she has managed and improved guest satisfaction. We are proud to have Rhodora as an active board member of the Brisbane Chamber of Commerce.

The Homewood Suites by Hilton SFO North celebrated 16 years of hospitality service in Brisbane, California at the December Holiday Mixer. At the mixer, I personally experienced the caring and courtesy that the staff gives on a regular basis to each guest. They value each guest and craft a welcoming environment for anyone walking through their doors, including those who attend mixers and those staying at the hotel.

she came across. She commented “the Hilton Brand is focused on a strong community value which aligns perfectly with my strong personal values of service. The values and culture of Sage Hospitality Resources, the owners of Homewood Suites by Hilton SFO North, is to create a focused and positive experience for guests and staff. It’s not just four walls, a bed, a pass through. We strive to customize and enrich lives one experience at a time. Each of us at Homewood Suites takes seriously our goal of providing a relaxing and vibrant place to eat and sleep while away from home whether for business or pleasure.”

Rhodora and I spoke about the remodeled Homewood Suites. We toured the spacious 700 square foot conference room, pool, dining room, laundry facility, and hotel rooms. I saw first-hand the spacious and warm atmosphere crafted for visitors as they first walk into the lobby and when they enjoy a meal.

We spoke about the benefits of Homewood Suites’ location in Brisbane. Guests have access to San Francisco, SFO International Airport, Silicon Valley, and fantastic restaurants. Rhodora said, “Our guests talk frequently about the charm and safety of Brisbane. They want to experience the community they are staying at. They enjoy being able to run and walk on the San Francisco Bay trails as well as using our gym and swimming pool.” I learned that guests have access to breakfast and dinner four days a week, shuttle service within 5 miles of the hotel, SFO shuttle service, and other services such as grocery shopping and dry-cleaning.

Homewood Suites believes in good community citizenship by being a vital part of the community in which they live, work and play. They have also donated to GatePath, whose mission is to empower people with special needs and support veterans, service members and families by giving backpacks filled with goodies that were handed out at San Francisco Airport USO.

In closing Rhodora spoke about honor points and local discounted rates. YOU OWE $68K
BY: CURTIS RUE, Director of Finance, Purcell Murray Company, cre@purcellmurray.com

It’s a new day and we are further in debt as a nation! $22 trillion according to usgovernmentdebt.us. Allocated on a per person basis, that’s almost $68k for each of us. The budgeted forecast for the interest for 2019 is $364 billion. That’s 8.2% of the national budget. In 2015 the debt expense was 6% of the national budget. Yet, it still feels like Christmas when I read the newspapers about all the wonderful things that are discussed that we can and should get for free. More housing. A wall. A bullet train. More help with child care. Free college and health insurance. Imagine what we could do with an extra $369 billion if we weren’t paying interest expense. Did you know that if the country of Venezuela’s GDP for 2018 was $320 billion? GDP is the sum of the goods and services provided over a year. Maybe Venezuela is not the best comparison right now but I would appreciate it if our governmental representatives would look more closely at this issue of our national debt. If we aren’t careful, we may see folks get some of the Christmas goodies, but they won’t really be free. They will get stacked onto the debt.

In the mean time, this is the time to get your personal taxes done. We have a lot of time left and getting into it now will certainly reduce the possible stress coming up this April. In case you don’t yet know, there are new limits on the itemized deductions we can take against federal income for state taxes and mortgage interest. Last year I received a nice refund but it looks like I will owe this year. I didn’t make any changes to my usual expense.

Rabon continued, “People have a story to tell, and we help them tell it. Our mission is to be a valued partner during each individual customer’s journey. Our goal is to partner with each and every one to assist in making their event vision a reality.”

We spoke about PSAV’s mission and core values. Rabon explained, “They serve as our north star to help ensure we are meeting, and often exceeding, the goals of our customers’ expectations while at the same time identifying opportunities for improvement.”

Headquartered in Schiller Park, Ill., PSAV employs more than 9,000 professionals across 1,500 on-site venue locations and 49 branch offices within the United States, Canada, Mexico, Europe, the Caribbean, and the Middle East. They received the honor of being named to the Forbes 2018 America’s Best Employer list.

I asked Rabon why PSAV chose to locate their business here in Brisbane. She replied, “Brisbane’s branch location serves as a hub to our hotel locations and local businesses hosting an event. We moved to Brisbane because of its easy access to the major freeways so that we are able to move equipment quickly when our clients need it. This location offers close proximity to venue partners and meeting planners who hold events in San Francisco, the Peninsula and greater Bay Area.”

While speaking about being a green business, I found it interesting that PSAV does not believe in throwing out old equipment, rather they believe in using waste recycling programs for retiring old equipment that cannot be repaired or reused.

To learn more about PSAV and to see how they can help make your next event a reality, call (415) 467-7283 and/or visit https://www.psva.com and can be found on social media. They are located at 185 Park Lane, Brisbane, CA 94005. Stop by and say hello.

woman holding an elected position, I often hear that girls see the path I have forged and know that because I succeeded, they can too. The thought of being of a role model has taken some time to come to grips with, encouraging our youth is something I can get behind. See, I too remember looking up to someone much the same way. As a child, a female council member used to tell me all the time, I would be on the council one day, I’d shrug it off but she insisted. She saw my potential at 10 years old, before I ever did, and continued to reinforce the possibility I could hold office. She planted the seed…and it sat there dormant for a long time until 2015 when another female cousin encouraged me to run for council. As I began to second guess myself, those years of encouragement came to the forefront and for the first time I genuinely believed I could walk this path because women throughout my life had instilled in me the importance of believing in myself. Call it cheesy, call it sappy, but I call it women supporting women…and it works. As many of you know, I needed to establish something that embraced my role as a female elected official and do for others what so many women had done for me. I knew I needed to create something to uplift other women. LunaFest was it.

Along with bringing to the forefront inequity within the film industry, LunaFest provides an avenue to raise funds for female causes. Lunafest makes the films available to organizations to host a screening so long as attendees are charged admission and this money goes to a woman’s cause. Since its inception, Lunafest has raised $4.7 million for women.

As with most things in life, the key to achieving short- and long-term goals is by planning, networking, marketing, and education. One of the key benefits is providing your company to other companies, residents and your clients through the monthly newspaper, the Lunafest, with a print readership of 4,000 and digital circulation on the web and social media. Your Lunafest membership provides you with opportunities to promote your company while connecting with others. Whether you want more representation in government relations, more advertising opportunities, more visibility - we are here to serve you. We believe in your success. It is vital to have a balanced and vibrant business sector to ensure stable revenue for the community.

In February membership investment forms were sent out to our members. We thank those who have renewed and/or joined the Chamber for 2019. If you have not received your investment form or you would like to join or renew your membership application and benefit information contact the Chamber office at (415) 467-7283, by e-mail at madison@brisbanechamber.org.

Brisbane is a unique place to live and work. Your ideas and suggestions are always welcome and desired.

LunaFest has raised $4.7 million for women.

As I thought about which organization would benefit from LunaFest funds, I knew the money raised needed to stay in town. The Lions Club has always had a presence in my life and when I needed their assistance most as a college student, they ensured I had funds for my education. I will never be able to thank them enough for what they did for me and what they have done and will continue to do for so many other students. It seemed only fitting that the money raised from LunaFest should go to the Lions. Thankfully, they share in my vision and have agreed to use the funds to create a scholarship for women pursuing a degree in a male dominated field such as film, engineering, science, math, technology, political-science or the trades (electrician, mechanic, plumber etc.) They have worked tirelessly to help me and our city staff coordinate this event and together I am hoping we can raise $10,000 or more this year. I would be remiss if I did not mention Madhouse Coffee, 7 Mile House, and Midtown Market have agreed to donate concessions to us for sell. If you or your employer would like to support our efforts to raise funds for Brisbane college students, please reach out to me. I am still hoping to secure more sponsors and concession donations. Sponsorship levels are as follows: Bronze-$500, Silver-$1,000, Gold-$1500 (includes 5 tickets), Platinum-$2,500 (includes 10 tickets). If you’d like to donate an amount other than what’s listed, please let me know.

Last but not least, here’s my Brisbane Fun Fact of the month: In 1953 Brisbane boasted more than 5,000 residents and there were much fewer houses at that time than there are now.

WE WANT YOUR FEEDBACK!

BY: XIOMARA CISNEROS, Universal Paragon’s Community Affairs Manager, xcisneros@upcsf.com/415-825-5348

Universal Paragon has commissioned a survey to gather Brisbane resident feedback. Since the summer of 2018, UPC has not been actively engaged with the Brisbane community. Given this next phase of planning, including the Home for All effort, it was important to conduct a data-driven process in advance, to understand the community’s priorities for the Baylands project going forward. The poll is currently being conducted via text message, email and phone calls.

The City of Brisbane is initiating a community engagement process facilitated by Home for All, a San Mateo County sponsored program, to inform the goals and values of the Baylands neighborhood. Home for All will design and implement a community engagement process that will kick off this Spring and wrap up by Summer. We look forward to observing the Home for All process and findings from this important effort.

The Home for All process, along with the survey results, will help inform our subsequent community outreach process that will ultimately result in a revised Specific Plan application that is consistent with General Plan Amendment approved by the citizens of Brisbane with the passage of Measure JJ.

Your individual responses to this survey are entirely confidential and will be used for research purposes only. We are interested in your opinions! Participants are selected at random. If selected, I encourage you to share your feedback. Thank you, in advance, for your participation!
TOLERANCE FOR EDUCATORS

BY: SARAH NEIDHART, Panorama School Principal, sneidhart@brisbanesd.org

The Brisbane School District staff recently had the opportunity to travel to Los Angeles for a Tolerance for Educators two-day professional development. This opportunity provided the staff with an immersive and reflective experience at the Museum of Tolerance, and a Tools for Tolerance® for Educators’ program that is designed to advance anti-bias education and promote the creation of inclusive and equitable schools. On the first day, we toured the section of the museum devoted to the Holocaust. After we toured this section with our own personal curator we heard the first hand historical account from Holocaust survivor Harry Davids. On the second day we toured the Tolerance Center and learned about the history of racism, media, and bias.

Educators also participated in a few curriculum sessions with Teaching Tolerance anti-bias curriculum writer, Sara Wich. It is the mission of Teaching Tolerance to help teachers and schools educate children and youth to be active participants in a diverse democracy. While studying the Teaching Tolerance anti-bias curriculum we were introduced to the Social Justice Standards. We had time to think about and share how we can put the standards into action in the classroom.

The museum reminds us all “why” it is so important to focus on this work and the Teaching Tolerance Curriculum gives educators the tools and resources to focus on social justice and anti-bias learning in the classroom. The Brisbane School District is looking forward to taking the next steps in our learning to reinforce inclusive and equitable school climates and curriculum.

This professional development was paid in full by a generous grant from the Museum of Tolerance.
