As summer draws to a close, I want to take this opportunity to thank the Brisbane community for allowing me to serve as Mayor this past year and as a Councilmember over the last four years. After much consideration and discussions with my family, I’ve decided not to run for re-election.

I am grateful to all those who have supported me throughout my time in office. I want to thank the Brisbane Chamber of Commerce for providing a welcoming place for residents and workers who provide authentic Indian cuisine to employees who work in Brisbane, South San Francisco, Daly City, San Francisco, and the Peninsula. We are respectful of people’s time, provide a welcoming place for networking, and strengthened relations:

Linda Greer, fourth generation Mozzetti family member and owner of the Brisbane Inn Lodge speaking about the renovation of the Brisbane Inn.

I asked Linda about the name change from Brisbane Inn to the Brisbane Inn Lodge. She replied, “The theme of the Brisbane Inn has always been a hunting lodge, so Brad and I added ‘Lodge’ to the name.”

NEW CHEF AND OWNER

INTEGRATED RESOURCES GROUP

BY: ALISON WILSON, Brisbane Chamber Communication/Marketing Director alison@brisbanechamber.org

INTERNATIONAL REPUTED chef Gurdial Singh Sidhu, owner/head chef and Sunny Sandhu, manager/chef have taken the helm of Lava Restaurant. Chef Gurdial Singh Sidhu was raised in Punjab, India where he received his formal culinary education, preparing food in the style of northwest Indian cuisine. He has been a chef in Tokyo, Hong Kong, Taiwan, Las Vegas, Benicia, Oakland and at the Grand in San Francisco.

I asked why he chose to become the head chef/owner at Lava Restaurant here in Brisbane. He replied, “Brisbane is beautiful. We are centrally located for residents and workers who want to sample new cuisine and those who want good home-style prepared Indian food. Our goal is to provide authentic Indian cuisine to employees who work in Brisbane, South San Francisco, Daly City, San Francisco, and the Peninsula. We are respectful of people’s time,
She took me for a tour of the bar. All antlers displayed have their original hunting tags attached. These tags show the hunter’s name, date, and state where the animal was taken.

All regulars fondly remember Bullwinkle, the gigantic moose who watches over the bar from his perch high on the wall. What some don’t know is that Bullwinkle is the 1947 winner of the Boone and Crockett Award for largest moose taken in the US! Many other favorites remain, like the wild boar and pronghorn antelope.

Linda continued, “Today, we’re still a neighborhood bar serving drinks that run the spectrum from beer and wine to top-shelf crafted cocktails. Many people socialize using phones, laptops, and electronics, so we have plenty of electrical outlets for charging their devices. We also have free Wi-Fi.

“Additionally, the bathrooms have been tiled and repainted, we have new tile flooring, new bar stools, and tables, and chairs, two 70-inch televisions for sports and news, an all-new sound system, an area for the House Band, an Atomic Jukebox and, of course, the only purple felt pool table west of the Mississippi. We have been Brisbane’s community hangout for decades.”

I asked Linda to speak more about being a destination for adults in all walks of life. She responded, “the Brisbane Inn Lodge is a safe and welcoming place for people to meet and hang out just like in the past. We have a large paved parking lot. We want people to know that we have a comfy place for people to meet and relax before and after an event. We want to become a destination again. We want to give the Brisbane Inn back to Brisbane. This bar has been enjoyed by generations. It’s the neighborhood hangout. We want to create an atmosphere where people will come and stay, greet friends and meet new people.”

Brisbane Inn Lodge shelves are home to local and internationally known quality spirits. On tap are local beers and cider. Bar manager Francis Kelly has 35+ years of experience serving both classic and contemporary cocktails. Francis’ knowledge of all cocktails and spirits is amazing. Linda said, “In addition to bartending at the Brisbane Inn, Francis serves as a key distribution consultant for the industry, trains bartenders to deliver consistent drinks with ‘dynamic results,’ orchestrates roll-outs for liquor companies and distilleries all over the world, with the latest roll-out for Lagavulin distillery.”

Francis Kelly said, “Drinks are freshly crafted for each customer and served in glassware best for each signature drink. The Brisbane Inn will offer ‘Mocktails’ (non-alcoholic drinks).” I asked about the use of fruit and herbs. He replied, “The Brisbane Inn uses only fresh fruit and herbs; we don’t use high corn fructose syrup or dyes.” On the bar, customers can see the fresh fruit in its glass bowls.

I asked why glassware is important when serving a drink. He replied, “Whether you have ordered a shaken or stirred—drink with or without ice— the proper glass allows the patron to smell the aromatics, control the temperature of the drink (long stemware helps prevent hands from heating the drink) and when the drink is sipped, the glass controls where the drink lands on the tongue. It’s important to smell and taste the intricate flavor of each drink.”

Linda added that the Brisbane Inn will have a monthly Mystery Keg from a local brewery.

The conversation then turned to food that will be served in the bar. Linda let me know that homemade meatballs (made from Nino Mozzetti’s mother’s recipe) served on special rolls with sauce (Tillie’s recipe again), lumpia, including beef, chicken, veggie, calamari, and wings. On down the road new items may be added, such as a daily specialty sandwich, soup, chilli, and stew in the winter.

The Brisbane Inn Lodge will be open Tuesday through Saturday from 4:00pm to midnight. You can find the Brisbane Inn Lodge at https://www.facebook.com/brisbane.inn. For questions call (415) 825-5554. She continued, “I want customers and passers-by to come in and look at our new bathrooms. They are sparkling clean. Stop by and enjoy the wild game and carvings on the walls and restrooms.

THE AUDITORS’ OPINION...
BY: CURTIS ROE, Treasurer and Board Member Brisbane Chamber of Commerce, CPA
Director - Finance, Purcell Murray, croe@purcellmurray.com

There is no denying that since Tiger Woods professional decline, the public interest in golf has declined. Did you hear what they found in his system recently? It sounded like he had lunch in his medicine cabinet. Can’t be good for the game. San Mateo scheduled another, “Alternative Use Feasibility Study For the Poplar Creek Golf Course” on August 21. Hmmm.

Regarding matters of accounting and finance, you have ever been audited by a CPA firm or wondered why they happen? Typically, an audit is done to ensure that a borrower has complied with the requirements of a lender or investor. The lender would owe money while the investor in this case would hold ownership in the company. When the amount of money being considered gets to be a material amount, these folks look for additional assurance that things are going as the borrower suggests.

In short, the opinion states that the statements after following auditing procedures that have been accepted by the USA. The auditor typically states that the statements are fairly stated. They don’t say they are correct or incorrect. They indicate that they appear free of material misstatement. It would be nearly impossible to test every transaction recorded and ensure that it is right. Wow, what fun words; debt, audit, financial compliance, opinion, and material. Can’t you just tell me yes or no!!!!

The procedures taken in performing an audit are detailed and arduous. There are tests, confirmations, analysis, review, repeat, and usually more review. But to participate in conducting an audit can be very interesting. The auditor sees in a short period of time most of the activity conducted by a company over the past year.

The opinion is a very valuable thing to have. It provides the lender the assurance that the borrower has done what he said he would do. Receiving an auditors’ report with a qualified or unfavorable opinion would not be good. It would indicate that the auditor did his work and reported back the findings, and they weren’t good.

Have you ever eaten a pine cone? Euell Gibbons told me that many parts are edible.

I take pride in creating a fusion of flavor that combines spice marinades such as garam masala, aniseed, fennel, coriander, cumin, cinnamon, dry red chilies, turmeric, chili powder, cardamom, and cloves to make signature dishes for Lava Restaurant.” I learned that Northern Indian food uses dairy products to create their sauces, cream dishes and buttery tasting dishes. I sampled the homemade cheese, onions and special sauce mixed nuts, Garlic Naan bread, Daal Soup (a traditional yellow lentil soup), Achar chicken, and Lamb Seekh Kabab, followed by Kheer rice pudding. My husband, Bob, said “Yummmm.” He particularly like the Daal soup, Achar chicken and Kheer rice pudding.

I asked them to talk about what Tandoori means. Chef Sunny replied, “Tandoori is not a reference to a recipe, but how we cook our bread and dishes. We use the clay tandoor oven for naan bread and marinades for our vegetables and meats that are cooked using a hot, very hot charcoal fire.” We then toured the kitchen area. Here I saw the tandoor, pizza oven, the charcoal fire, and preparation area. Chef Gurdial commented, “We use a different recipe and different preparation for each of our signature dishes, that way our patrons experience a different texture and flavor for each dish. He then spoke about how Lava uses yogurt to seal the juices and flavors of the marinated meat and vegetables rather than butter and other fats.”

Lava Restaurant menu choices include pizza, chicken, lamb, vegetable, seafood and Biryani rice dishes. They offer take out, sit down and delivery. Call them at 415.466.6033 for group dining specials for corporate, social, and private parties that offers samples of the rich Indian cuisine dining. This restaurant can be rented for private and semi-private dining.

Call them at 415.466.6033 or simply by calling 415.466.6033. Stop by and welcome the new owners.

In response to the City’s Housing Element obligations, the City Council took a proactive approach to city planning by working to adopt our city’s first ever precise plan, at Parkside at Brisbane Village. This community-driven plan will provide zoning regulations for approximately 230 residential units as well as mixed use development.

As Mayor and a Councilmember, I’ve had the pleasure of working with our dedicated and experienced city staff, as well as with passionate residents and community volunteers who have worked tirelessly to make a difference in our town. Above all, what I’ve learned on the Council is the importance of listening, being open-minded, and thinking critically on complex issues.

Some of my most memorable times on the Council have been stepping up on tough decisions when there was no right answer and multiple points of view. I know that I had each one of your ideas and opinions in my mind when making these difficult decisions. As we look forward to the future, the City Council will undoubtedly be tasked with the difficult challenge of balancing the impacts of regional growth while preserving our unique small-town atmosphere. My advice to the future Council would be to think both locally, regionally and globally, refrain from being ideological and polarizing, and think pragmatically about how we can work together to reach solutions that underscore our collective commitment to environmental, social and economic sustainability.

Our summer season is ending with the first sign of autumn arriving and the end of the school summer vacations. Many of us have been glued to the television or computer for updates on the badlands deliberations, the Giants and the 49ers. Unfortunately, with the dry summer weather we have also seen several catastrophic wildfires throughout California. Many of our Northern California and Bay-area firefighters have been deployed to assist with trying to contain these blazes and we greatly value their assistance and dedication. It’s an ongoing reminder to keep our land parcels trimmed to create a fire-barrier on our properties. As we know, wildfires can happen anywhere, as we have seen locally in our not too distant past.

For the past several months we have been advertising the “5th Annual Multi-Chamber Business Expo,” a collaboration of our chamber and 6 other local chambers to promote the Northern section of San Mateo County and to give smaller and home-based businesses a chance to showcase their wares and services. On August 3 we conducted the 2017 expo and it was another successful event as we had over 55 exhibitors and around 400 attendees.

It was a busy and fun event, with great displays, new products and the chance to network with other business owners. The Brisbane Chamber was well represented with booths promoting our local businesses such as, Philip Marks Chocolates, Recology, Homewood Suites by Hilton, the Lions’ Clubs District 4C4, Verrees Insurance Services, AFLAC-A-1 Plumbing, Loans by Jasama and Mary Wong Insurance. Many great gifts and prizes were raffled off, raising money for chamber programs throughout the county. For next year, it’s a great idea to register early and secure your space.

In walking around, the expo floor and speaking with people it is very apparent that the lifeblood of the economy is its ability to foster an environment where small businesses can be formed and supported. From small insurance agents, to entrepreneurs designing new devices to make our lives easier, to non-profit organizations that help people volunteer and get involved, small businesses and the economy in general depend on individuals wanting to be involved and make a difference. Even if you’re not an entrepreneur thinking about the next great product or service, each of us can indeed make a difference in our communities with our involvement. Think Local, Shop Local and Be Involved!

Finally, all friends of San Bruno Mountain are invited to come to their annual fundraiser. Instead of the traditional pancake breakfast San Bruno Mountain Watch is doing a “Mountain Love-In” on Saturday, September 9 from 6-9 at Mission Blue Center. It’s an Open Mic night with stories, poems, songs and art celebrating this most special place. From 6-7 pm it’s Kids Show and Tell, and from 7-9 pm the adults show their talents. The event will feature a Taco bar, and cocktails for he adults (after 7 pm). Tickets are $20 for adults and $10 for Kids, and are available at the door or online at MountainWatch.org/event. It should be a fun event for a worthy cause.

During the first half of 2017, we delivered nearly 6,500 tons of food waste, food-soiled paper and yard trimmings to our Anaerobic Digestion Facility. This material was collected from Organics carts and bins across our service area. Thank you for helping us to send less material to landfill, to produce fuel for our trucks, and to create nutrient-rich soil for farms.

WITH MUCH APPRECIATION, WE BID OUR ADIEUS

BY: ROXANA HUI, Brisbane Elementary School District Board VP, RHUI@brisbanesd.org

As our school year begins, I would like to take a moment to acknowledge our recent, seven retirees that have contributed a cumulative 124 years to our district and enriched so many of our students’ lives. Some have accomplished this through teaching and others by their supporting roles both in and out of the classrooms, but each person has made the Brisbane School District a better place for our students. Their variety of roles and experiences have strengthened the well-roundedness of our school community so their contributions will be missed.

The District takes pride in the tenure of our staff and the years of expertise that they bring, as shown by their time with us. We thank them for their service and dedication and wish them well in the next chapters of their lives.

We are enthusiastic for the new school year, as is evident by all of the preparation going on this summer. Our teachers and administrators attended workshops locally and in New York, while our support staff cleaned, repaired, built, organized, filed and updated in all areas at all three of our campuses and in the district office. The Board thanks our superintendent, Ronan Collver, for his meticulous orchestration and attention to detail.

As always, we appreciate the generous support of both the business and overall Brisbane community that we are so fortunate to be a part.

L. to R. Thank you to the service of Shirley Hardy, Finance/Payroll Officer, 6 years; Liz Nowakowski, Instructional Aide & Swim Instructor, 23 years; Kathy Olson, Instructional Aide, 15 years; Heidi Levison, Teacher, 13 years; Janet Booth, Teacher, 27 years; Lynn (Howe) Ziebarth, Teacher, 20 years; and Larry Koger, Bus Driver/Custodian/Groundskeeper, 20 years.
